Education with Destination

Pathway2Careers™ promotes education with destination through the creation of high-quality tools and resources that enhance the intersection of educational practices with high-value career opportunities.

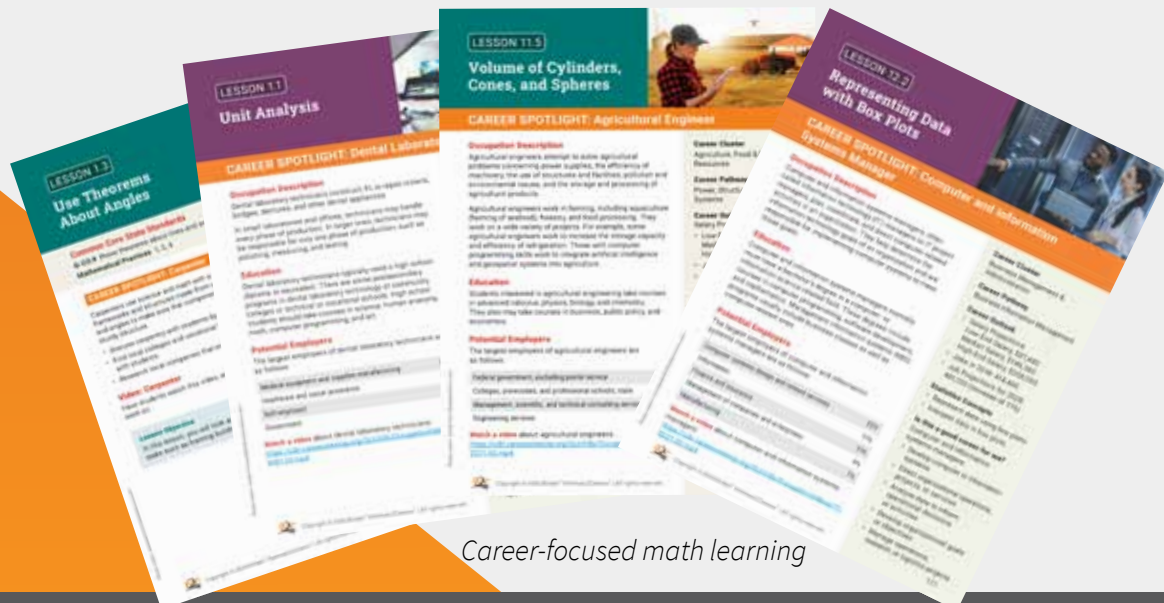

The P2C system places considerable emphasis on understanding viable career destinations for students. Using robust labor market data, P2C provides the ability to examine high-value career opportunities in local communities. These career destinations serve as a critical point of focus to inform the development of resources and materials that are directly aligned with the skill requirements for current and future jobs.
